Policeman Clark took in three drunks yesterday afternoon.

John Dwyer sold one of his blooded trotting horses yesterday for $200.

The cornice on the front of the Miller building was put up yesterday.

"The snow, the beautiful snow,"—but we refrain from thinking of it, this is out of season.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps at Odd Fellow's hall at 2 o'clock this evening.

Gast Bros. are removing their machinery from the meat building. They think it has not suffered any great damage.

For sale at reduced rates a heap of garbage in front of Nicholson's office. Inquire of city scavenger.

C. B. Elliott has commenced building the foundation for the West side planing mill. The work will now be pushed rapidly to completion.

"O for a lodge in some vast dwelling where the mercenary dwellers at work." The above seemed to be the song of the average man yesterday.

Commissioner J. H. Aley got back from his California trip yesterday morning. He says he was ready to come home, although his trip in many respects was a very pleasant and instructive one.

Mr. Andrew J. Lynch, who it seems has been making use of the firm name of the Eagle quite promiscuously of late, is in no way connected with this office, nor has he been employed by the firm since August 1.

The business of the A. D. T. Messenger Service is rapidly increasing. Within the last week twelve new boxes have been placed in residences and business houses. Subscriptions for others are almost daily received and will be put in as soon as possible.

The first annual election of officers of the Plymouth Congregational church will take place tonight. The outgoing officers will give interesting reports, and other business of interest to all members of the church and congregation will come before the meeting. The day which the ladies proposed to give has been postponed on account of the sickness of several and the extreme heat.

Messrs. Sullivan and Henley, of the Enterprise Publishing company, having completed their contract with the business men of this city, left for Denver last evening, which place they arranged for next after Wichita. Mr. Sullivan says that if nothing happens more than he knows of he will become a resident of Wichita by the first day of November next.

Mr. G. M. Magill, proprietor of the Eaglewood Club, of Clinton, spent the day in the city yesterday on business in connection with his newspapers, two of which he owns in Kansas and one in Colorado. Cimarron without doubt is going to cut a big figure in western Kansas soon, and in connection with Gray county. Mr. Magill is a wide awake, energetic man who knows no such word as fail.

LAST NIGHT'S LYNCHING

That Did Not Take Place Though Fully Two Hundred Cool and

Determined Citizens of Valley Center Made Fruitless Search for the Bloody Assassin, Going a Second Time to the County Jail For the Prisoner.

Sheriff Hays, Anticipating Their Coming, Spirited the Culprit to A Place of Safety.

It was quite a surprise to all to learn yesterday morning that the assassin, John McKinney, had made safe his escape from his enraged pursuers, and was resting behind the bars of his own choice. Immediately after the news became known it was the talk of the street when the sun appeared in the east again it would find the body of the prisoner swinging high in the air. As the day passed on the fear for his life became more widespread.

About noon Sheriff Hays received a telegram from the mayor of Valley Center stating that if the prisoner was conducted back to that place his person should not be molested. Shortly after receiving the dispatch he was introduced to a warrant in the hands of a constable from that place which called for the arrest of John McKinney. Sheriff Hays positively denied that they had any control over the one desired as he was then in jail and he could have his trial here as well as any place. He maintained his position and the prisoner did not take his trip north.

About 3 o'clock the report was on the wing that about 300 men were stationed a short distance north of town and were sending in for that sort of supplies that would have a tendency to allay their thirst and make them breathe freely. A number of men were seen on the streets all day, some of whom it is claimed, by a gentleman, lives in the vicinity of Valley Center. It was the general belief that they were serving as spies to see how the land lay and make sure the prisoner would not be conducted out of the city by the officials.

Shortly before midnight a good span of horses attached to a closed carriage were halted in front of the county jail. In a moment the sheriff accompanied by the prisoner who was ornamented with a heavy suit of non-running apparel appeared.

Two armed guards followed them, and the four were seated in the carriage. The driver spoke the word and they went—where?

Between nine and ten o'clock last night four white men in citizens clothing and unmarked called at the jail and demanded "one of the prisoners John McKinney." The jailer Mr. J. E. Darnall told them that he was not in that section. They were not satisfied however and insisted on having the keys at their disposal for a time. They were delivered over and they walked in. They closely examined every cell and hunted the jail thoroughly but could not find the man sought. They reluctantly returned the keys and

Shortly after 11 o'clock four colored men marched up to the jail and demanded admission. It was granted and an enthusiastic band again resulted in a failure.

A reporter visited the jail between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning and found the jailer seated on the steps in front of the establishment apparently waiting for some more searching parties. At that time a squad of men were stationed at the corner of Main street and Central avenue. It was impossible to learn if they meant business or were waiting to see what was going to happen and did not intend to help in the execution of Judge Lynch's laws provided the subject could be found. Many of the citizens of the city were stationed on the streets at that time looking in every direction and ready to pounce upon anyone who they thought knew anything of a sensational character more than had already been circulated upon the streets.

A SUCCESSFUL FLEE.

Congressman W. R. Perkins came over from Geary county yesterday, and has, in company with his wife, for a couple of days been driving about and seeing the growth of the city since his last visit. As is known to our bankers and investors, the success of the Equitable Trust and Investment company, one of Wichita's most successful incorporated money institutions, under the immediate direction of J. P. Sherman, secretary, and M. W. Coulter, treasurer, both residents of our city, Judge Perkins came over more particularly to examine and attest the reports of the officers for the first year's business, which has proved of the most satisfactory character, and which had just been closed up. As was intimated, the success of the Equitable Trust and Investment company has been marked, if not indeed brilliant, which with a capital stock of $200,000 have loaned out something over a million of dollars of money from first hands and on securities which are as good as a 4 per cent. government. The rooms of the company, over the First Arkansas Valley bank, where Messrs. Sherman & Coulter with their clerks can always be found, are fitted up and furnished in a tasty and most convenient manner for the transaction of the business carried on.

As for Judge Perkins, who called for a brief space yesterday morning, he is willing to concede to Wichita all that the EAGLE has been claiming, that in fact, it were useless to deny that she stands without a rival among all the many bright cities of Kansas. The judge is not only a very level-headed congressman but we confidently commend his judgment, when it comes to a matter of relative importance of cities, to all doubters.

SAD NEWS.

Attorney J. Y. Montague received the sad news last evening that his mother was dead. The sickness lasted but a few days and her death was entirely unexpected. She lived in Wayne county, Tennessee.

A NEW ACT STORE.

Van Dorn & Blackburn, who are engaged in an extensive business at Detroit, Mich., have decided to put up a wholesale and retail act establishment in this city. The latter member of the firm has been in the city some days, having come here expecting to locate in the city struck him favorably. It seems that it did, as he has determined to commence business and is on the lookout for a suitable room for business. He says that in a few weeks he will have a good stock on hand of all kinds of goods in their line.

He seems to be much pleased with the outlook here and is aiming to get into business as early as possible.

ROBBER.

Last night a man came to the police and asked their assistance in the recovery of money he said he had stolen from him at the "Red Light." They went to the house, but did not succeed in finding either the thief or money.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Yesterday morning Mr. Charles Hardy, a carpenter, had the misfortune to cut himself seriously on the left arm with a hatchet. The wound was thought by the physician called sufficient to cause him the loss of the use of his arm. He left last evening for his former home in LeRoy, Illinois.

RELEASED.

E. C. Nudd, Jr., who was arrested a few weeks ago for forgery, was released yesterday on bail and will immediately return to work on the surveying corps. The whereabouts of the instrument is still a mystery. Mr. Dawson, however, speaks of young Nudd as being a very faithful and energetic workman.

DEATH.

Mrs. Dr. Wendt died Wednesday night at 9 o'clock. The disease was a complication of dropsy and scarlet troubles from which she has been a sufferer for the past ten months. She and the doctor were married in Germany twenty-one years ago, when she was but seventeen. Funeral today at 2:30; services will be conducted by Rev. P. H. Mueller, of the German Lutheran church.

WORK COMMENCED.

The city engineer finished surveying a line yesterday connecting the city mills, by a pipe eight inches in diameter, with the Topeka avenue sewer. Work has already been commenced and the completion of the job is now a matter of a few days. The mills will run water only through the pipe and it is thought by many that this will assist materially in keeping the main sewer clear.

Several parties who live near the routes surveyed are anxious to gain permission to connect their houses with the pipe used by the mill. This it is thought will destroy partially, at least, the good that it might do the main sewer if not tapped.

TRUE ENOUGH.

Mr. J. C. Kennedy, who is connected with the Augusta Stone company, was in the city yesterday. As a matter of course he told his friends that trade in his line was fine—could not wish it better. Of the many points to which his company sends stone he told a gentleman yesterday that the car loads to Wichita from the larger part of his account book. This city was a booming market for his product. The daily increasing demand for that sort of material here was taxing his present large force to their utmost. Every week since the building boom commenced witnessed an additional number of hands commencing work at the quarry. His visits to the city made him certain that the many car loads of his product being sent here were not being bought for a show, but were finding place in permanent and elegant buildings.

Rev. J. D. Hewitt left for Winfield yesterday morning in the interest of the Lewis Academy school fund. Last week he paid Derby a visit on the same business and succeeded in raising over $200 and the promise of $200 more which will be paid in a short time.

Rev. Hewitt is meeting with flattering success in raising funds for the institution. Not only the members of his denomination are found to contribute largely and freely but a number of others who are glad to assist an institution of learning that stands out under such promising circumstances.

While the funds are being raised for the institution the "work" on the building is being rushed despite the parching sun. A number of hands are employed and the little moments are few.

Prof. Naylor, the president, is hard at work in his department. The many things necessary to be arranged in starting the class gives him constant employment in matters of the weather, villages. The number of students already made application for entering at the opening of the school next month is sufficient reason for fearing that the room will not accommodate all.

HOTEL ROBBER.

Yesterday morning the guests at the Ohio house became aware that they had been visited by some one who had unceremoniously searched their trunks and relieved them of all the money deposited.

Mr. Robertson lost $24 and Charles Clevé $22. No other money was to be found, but another gentleman had a fine gold watch and some valuable jewelry, which accidentally came under the observation of the thief but were not, it seems, considered safe property under the circumstances. Nothing was removed but the money, but the general confusion in all the trunks in the house showed that searching hands had been present.

There is considerable speculation as to who committed the crime. The general opinion of those stopping at the house places it upon an eldritch lad who had been quartered there for some days but left Wednesday evening for parts, as yet, unknown. He was accustomed to remain in his room during the day while all the others were engaged at work, never putting an appearance between meals. He was seen Wednesday afternoon leaving one of the rooms of another party and stated that he was making a search for a clothes brush.

He gave his name as Dr. T. R. Davidson. He was near 50 years old and was especially careful to make himself agreeable to all he met and all were at first favorably impressed thinking he was a courteous gentleman. Better acquaintance with him led to grave suspicions and the boys who were done up are not at all backward in handling his name with the event in a very unenviable manner. The doctor claimed to have practiced in Wilmington, Ohio, for twenty years, but a gentleman who has for a time lived in this city, but who came here from the same town mentioned above, states that his statement is incorrect as he is perfectly familiar with that locality and no such man was stationed there. The doctor spoke of several prominent business men who live there and talked in such away about the town that it was evident to the gentleman acquainted with the place that he had been there. He is set down as a slick fraud and he seems to be of some amount.

The races by electric light at the Dawson park was largely attended last evening, fully a thousand people were present. There was quite a number of elegant turn-outs. One gentleman says that in twenty minutes he counted two hundred and two carriages cross the Oak street bridge. On by two teams were run. The first was won by Mr. Dawson's chestnut sorrel. In the second Standard Bearer and the Dawson horse both came under the wire at the same time; Frank R. third place, Banner Boy fourth.
